

Smoking Sober

Monday, 18 April 2011 16:16

Of the many drunk drivers stopped by La Crosse police this week-end, one young woman appeared not to take her first OWI too terribly seriously. Cops say they stopped 25 year-old Nicole Petersen early Sunday morning, speeding on East avenue on the city's southside. Police say Petersen seemed drunk but also reeked of marijuana. Cops say she was laughing during her arrest, at one point asking if she was going to be on the "Cops" TV show. She blew a .169. Told police she'd was smoking pot to get sober.