

A candidate from western Wisconsin could emerge in the recall election for governor. State Senator Kathleen Vinehout, who represents the 31st Senate District, says she is seriously considering a run for governor.

Vinehout has served in the Senate since 2006. Vinehout says she expects to announce a decision in the next two to three weeks.