

LHI Wins DOD Award For Extra Effort

Tuesday, 20 April 2010 17:36

An attorney from the feds for Don Weber and his company Logistics Health in La Crosse. LHI has been honored by the Department of Defense with a Pro Patria award. It's an award given to employers who go above and beyond what is required in supporting employees who are in the National Guard or Reserves. Among the things LHI was cited for in the award is the company bridging the gap in pay between what employees make on deployment and what they earn while on the job at LHI.
