

Health care in Wisconsin leads the nation across the board again, according to the latest rankings from Consumer Reports Magazine. Gunderson Lutheran CEO, Jeff Thompson, who's health care system ranks near the top of the 19 total health systems in the state, says to some they are just numbers. To the health systems themselves, they are used for day to day business.

[REPORT 3 is unavailable]

He says they know from independent research that clinics engaged in public reporting perform better than those that do not.