

An alternative to a gun control bill floating around Minnesota has dissapointed some state lawmakers. Background checks were the cornerstone of a bill introduced last week but now, straw purchases and keeping guns out of people's hands that shouldn't have them has taken center stage with no language of background checks. All of this gun legislation making your head spin Senator Jeremy Miller?

\(Click for Audio\)

Miller says he's glad to see the current bill recieve so much bi-partisan support....he just hopes all of the language in any bill passed has the proper language and nothing's overlooked.