

So Maybe That's Why the Toilet Clogs

Wednesday, 02 June 2010 17:32

La Crosse cops had to chase a guy all the way into a toilet on a possible drug bust Tuesday night. Police say an anonymous tipster said she'd been approached by a thug selling crack outside the Mileage station on Cass Street in La Crosse. Guy was still there when cops pulled up but hot-footed it inside to the bathroom as soon as the officer stepped out of his squad. The cop caught up to 40 year-old Micheal Williams while he had his arm stuffed inside the toilet, apparently trying to hide something. They tazed him, cuffed him, arrested him, but never found the drugs. Although apparently didn't pull the toilet apart to take a good look.