

Reince Priebus, chairman of the Republican National Committee, discussing his party's new 100 page autopsy of what went wrong in 2012, says the problem isn't what Republicans are fighting for, it's how they are fighting for it. Newly elected 3rd District Vice Chair, Julian Bradley says he shares that compassion.

\(Click for Audio\)

Priebus says he thinks their policies are sound, but in many ways, the way that they communicate can be a real problem. Bradley says in western Wisconsin, that is one area he will be paying attention too and working on.