

Several drug dealers nabbed by La Crosse police this week-end. The one that police are highlighting however is a guy who has a history. Cops say 30 year-old Jonathan Banaskiewicz was caught after an investigation on the northside on Friday. Cops had to chase Banaskiewicz on foot. During that foot chase he apparently tossed a .22 on the ground. The thing about Banaskiewicz is that he has a lengthy criminal history and, police specifically point out, has received multiple second chances by local judges and was on probation at the time of his arrest. 49 year-old John Irvin was also arrested during the bust.
