

A hundred days now that La Crosse mayor Tim Kabat has been in office. The mayor never really delivered on a hundred days plan like he talked about initially. But, when we talked to him on the day after getting sworn in, the mayor indicated that he wasn't going to be spending much time twiddling his thumbs

\(Click for Audio\)

The mayor has followed through on his pledge to tackle the restoration of neighborhoods, with a newly implemented rental conversion moratorium that will give a special committee time to come up with solutions for the city's neighborhood woes.