

Local restaurant health compliance checks can now be found on the internet.

La Crosse County Health Department Health Manager Jim Steinhoff says with the click of a mouse, you can access health inspection reports from the La Crosse County Health Department. And some repeat violators are listed on their. So what to do with those eateries that continually violate health codes?

\(Click for Audio\)

He says the compliance checks are considered public records which anyone can view, and by putting them on their Website it makes them more accessible to the public.