

Central Cleaning in Store After Tagging

Monday, 26 August 2013 11:24

Just about a week before school is set to start in La Crosse, maintenance workers already have a bit of a mess to clean up at Central High. Cops say a janitor showed up at the school early Sunday morning to find the east side of Central littered with white, spray-painted graffiti. Gang symbols. Drug symbols. And something that looks vaguely like a snowman. No cameras on that side of the school to catch whoever did it and the school worker didn't locate any spent spray cans, either.
