

The Wisconsin Field Office of USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service

reported that though much of the state received rain this week, precipitation was spotty and light for most. And that has led to La Crosse County being labeled moderate drought. Meaning.....

\(Click for Audio\)

UW-Extension's Steve Huntzicker says what we are going through now is almost a repeat of what last summer looked like in some fields. Quite a bit of brown going on.