

Minnesota reporting cases of the flu already. Carol Burgmeyer with Mayo

Clinic Health Systems in La Crescent says quite a few people have already gotten their flu shots.

\(Click for Audio\)

This season's strain is a combination of H1N1, H1N3 and influenza B. According to the Centers for Disease Control, those are the types of influenza most likely to infect the United States this year.