

Lessons Learned From Failed Parking Experiment

Wednesday, 30 October 2013 08:35

The city of La Crosse learned at least something from a failed experiment to change the city's winter alternate side parking rules. That three year alternate side exemption around UWL showed public works director Dale Hexom something about towing cars left on the wrong side of the street

\(Click for Audio\)

The alternate side exempt area ended last winter. Friday morning alternate side parking rules begin for the whole city. Every day. Snow or no snow.