

A few months ago, La Crosse County supervisors gave tentative approval to new plans for the administrative center...which used to be the old courthouse and jail. Developers would like a final decision in January, and that means a county study committee will have to make its recommendation within a couple of weeks. Development specialist Brian Fukuda says that crucial meeting is set for December 12th:

\(Click for Audio\)

The developers who want to convert the administrative center to a college dorm want to have the building remodeled by the fall of 2015.