

The La Crosse Salvation Army had three successful campaigns this year to help get to their ultimate goal. And Dan Deicher tells us, they are slowly creeping to 100%.

\(Click for Audio\)

The Ho Chunk Nation.....businesses in the community and anonymous donors all helped the actual red kettles for the campaign this year. As for the Overall campaign... we turned to Julie Nelson.

\(Click for Audio\)

The Ho Chunk match is around $20 thousand...the 20 business match brought in around $18 thousand.....and the anonymous five thousand dollar match donor also brought in over $18 thousand. This puts the total campaign at $562 thousand or 86% of the $650 thousand goal. The red kettle campaign continues through the end of January.