

Yes she's registered with the state to run.....but no she has not formally announced that she will run.

Cheryl Hancock, who has gone head to head with Mike Huebsch twice for the 94th state assembly district seat says a couple of things are holding her back from making a third run at the seat. Hancock says in one hand she has a couple of opportunities in front of her and in the other hand is the fact the Governor has not yet called for a special election. He doesn't have to do that until mid February.

Hancock says she will have a firm decision soon on whether "third time's a charm" or not.
