

Drunk Driving With Eight Year-Old Child

Monday, 21 February 2011 10:44 -

A La Crosse guy really nailed his fourth drunk driving arrest this week-end. Police say, not only was Jacob Deschaine over three times the legal limit for driving on Friday night near UW La Crosse, he was also driving somebody else's car without permission, and slammed into a parked car, and did all of that with an eight year-old child in the back seat. Cops say Deschaine couldn't even perform the field tests before his arrest. Told police he probably downed three pints of vodka and thinks he may have been on the way to get more beer when he hit the parked car. Police say neither he nor the child were injured.