

LaCrosse county set up a business park in West Salem and then the recession hit. Community development coordinator Brian Fukuda says businesses like the first to move into the Lakeview business park and doing well. Select Trusses and Lumber was the first to move into the park and Brian tells us they've been a great tenant. Since then a number of other businesses have moved into the park and Fukuda says there's plenty of room for more. He admits inquiries have slowed down during the recession but he feels that will pick up along with the economy.