

If you own an ATV you could do some of your own snow removal. The Wisconsin assembly is considering a bill that would allow all terrain vehicles to plow snow on roads and sidewalks. Bad idea says LaCrosse county highway boss Dennis Osgood. These rigs could damage roads and don't have the capability to salt and sand which could leave some roads even more treacherous than if you just left the snow on the road. Osgood says allowing ATV's to plow snow would also be a safety hazard since they are difficult to see in a snowstorm.
