

The UW-La Crosse commencement this Saturday, in the Mitchell Hall Gymnasium at UW-L will mark the last time a graduation ceremony is held on campus as the graduating class continues to grow and a larger venue is needed. Future ceremonies will be held at the La Crosse Center. That will start in December.

Five ceremonies for all undergraduate and graduate students in UW-L's three colleges are planned on Saturday. UW-L has 1,535 candidates for graduation, including 315 graduate students and 1,220 undergraduates.

Ceremonies last about one hour and begin at 9am. No tickets or reservations are needed. Also, ample special needs seating is available and no reservation is needed. Parking in campus parking lots is free on graduation day.
