

The CAPX 2020 high power transmission line project would go right through Holmen....and pass two school buildings and a soon to be built third building. Not to the delight of some members of the Holmen School Board. Now, for a second time, a resolution will be brought to the board for a possible vote against the project. Board member Cheryl Hancock says the board has heard the pro's and con's of the project. And she does not support a majority of the project.

The board will meet tonight and it's anticipated to be a full house.
