

When people vote on a school referendum, do they really know the financial state of that district? Sparta School Superintendent, John Hendricks, says they will hold 4 forums before a February 21st referendum, which asks for $750 thousand a year for three years.

The referendum won't raise local property taxes.....it would be a continuation of the current revenue formula...passed by voters in 2007.