

La Crosse Home Sales Down for Year but Finish Well

Tuesday, 24 January 2012 10:50 -

Wasn't a banner year for home sales for 2011 in La Crosse county. Final numbers for the year from the Wisconsin Realtors Association finds last year's home sales in the county were almost 14 percent less than the year before. Much different from the rest of the state overall which saw home sales increase by two tenths of a percent from 2010. The median price for a purchased home went up slightly in La Crosse, outperforming the state as a whole which saw the median price for a home drop over six percent to 132 thousand dollars. Median home sale price in La Crosse county is right around 140 thousand.
