

Wisconsin's junior senator says that President Obama's plan to increase taxes on the nation's highest wage earners is a mistake in the effort to jump start the nation's slow economy. Ron Johnson says it comes down to a lack of leadership.

Johnson also cited parts of Obama's tax plan that he claimed would hurt the ability of job creators to grow their businesses and stimulate growth.