

Republican Governor Scott Walker plans to greet President Barack Obama in Milwaukee today and accompany him on a visit to Master Lock. Walker will meet the president at the tarmac and join him on the company visit. Meanwhile, RNC Chair Reince Priebus and Senator Ron Johnson held a press conference on the president's stop.

Walker has been telling supporters that a victory for him in a recall would be a devastating blow for Obama's chances at re election. In a speech to conservatives Friday in Washington, Walker also criticized Obama for comments the president made last year during the uproar over Walker's proposal limiting collective bargaining rights for public workers.
