

Tomorrow, La Crosse voters could change their form of government through a referendum at the polls. A ballot measure asks whether La Crosse should add a city administrator and take away some responsibilities from the mayor. Not all responsibilities, says Glen Jenkins from the group, Administrator, Yes

But there's still plenty to not like about the idea says councilman Jim Bloedorn who opposes the idea

If approved, the change would take effect next year.