

Drake Hall Fire To Be Featured In Documentary

The fire this winter at a U-W-La Crosse dorm is being highlighted in a documentary on fire safety that's now in production...

Members of two nationwide groups are in La Crosse today to talk with people who were connected to the Drake Hall fire in January. Ed Comeau founded 'Campus Firewatch,' and he says the local fire is a rare case where an entire residence hall has been disabled for a full semester.

But Comeau also points out that the Drake fire resulted in no deaths and no major injuries...showing that the university has done well in preparing students for the chance of fire.
