

Local Drought Continues

Wednesday, 11 July 2012 11:02 -

Now that the governor has declared a state of emergency for 42 Wisconsin counties dealing with drought conditions, what is the next step before the fed's would step in to help? We asked Donna Gilson with the state Department of Ag, Trade and Consumer protection that question.

The counties under the declaration include La Crosse, Monroe and Vernon.