

The League of Women Voters takes issue with the state attorney general's effort to restore the voter ID law in time for the November elections. League Director, Andrea Kaminski, says their campaign will continue.

Kaminski said Van Hollen is simply trying to restore an unconstitutional law which will make it extremely difficult or impossible for many qualified Wisconsin citizens to vote. Van Hollen has said the appellate courts are acting too slowly.