

Noise complaints, drunk driving arrests, lots of underage drinking tickets. Classes have started again at La Crosse's colleges. UWL begins classes today and police certainly could tell over the week-end with numerous underage drinking tickets, a bunch of fights and a guy who tried to steal some computer equipment from the basement of a pizza joint downtown. While the pizza place was full of bartime customers. It was a couple of those customers who helped employees chase that guy down. By any measure, a busy week-end for police, capped off by a short Labor Day search for the missing out of town of college student who woke up drunk somewhere downtown.
