

Student survey results at UW-L on food service should good get a good looksee today. This after complaints about food, prices and staffing problems came in to the university after they hired a new company this year. Larry Ringgerberg, Director of University Centers.

\(Click for Audio\)

Ringgerberg says after the student surveys have been gone through, they will send out the same surveys to staff on campus in a way to address the issues that are a few weeks old now.