

The La Crosse community will say goodbye on Friday to a businessman and his son who were murdered at the family store last weekend.

Services are planned for 11 o'clock at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church for Paul Petras and his teenage son, A.J. Paul owned May's Photo on Main Street, where the shooting took place on Saturday. Police have made no arrests yet, and Captain Robert Lawrence suggests that there's very little information which can be released right now without possibly hindering the investigation.
