

A consultant counting up receipts in La Crosse city hall? Not likely. But some kind of consulting is on the way to help the city save money. City councilman Dick Swantz doesn't want someone to focus on the small issues

A consultant for the city will be hired through a bid process. A special city council committee meets this week to determine the steps in that process and what a consultant will be asked to do.