Police are still on the look-out for an armed robbery suspect from this week-end. They say a short, chunky, red-haired guy robbed a woman at gun-point on Friday night in her motel room at the Affordable Inn on the northside. Cops say the guy knocked first, she opened the door, and then he pushed her into the corner, threatening her with a gun, before turning over her room. They say he got away with a laptop, a purse, a cell phone and some cash. They say he's no more than 5' 4" , red haired, goatee, wearing a dark hoodie. The victim, in the meantime, was arrested on an outstanding warrant.
