

Wisconsin has a full-time legislature that really doesn't put in full-time hours. At least that's how it seems to Milwaukee democratic state rep, Leon Young. Young has proposed making legislators like him part-time. And cutting pay from about 50 thousand dollars a year to 12 thousand.

\(Click for Audio\)

Young says it makes little sense to pay legislators full time pay for a year like last year when they were only in session for seven days.