

In other parts of the world, the 'swine flu' remains a pandemic...but not around here.

La Crosse County hasn't seen any cases of H-1-N-1, or even seasonal flu, in several months. County health nurse Traci Lien says local experts were surprised when a 'third wave' of H-1-N-1 didn't show up in the region. But in case the swine flu does return to the Midwest, Lien says the next batch of regular flu vaccine will include protection against H-1-N-1.
