

Organic Valley Faces Challenges After Fire

Wednesday, 15 May 2013 09:18 -

A major employer in Vernon county is looking for a way to continue business as usual after a big fire. Organic Valley's headquarters in La Farge burned into the night last night, at least temporarily idling workers at the nation's largest co-operative of organic farmers. Around two-thirds of the recently constructed headquarters is said to be damaged by smoke and fire. Several departments helped to fight the fire and efforts were still underway this morning. Nobody was injured in the blaze.