

A 31 year old Neillsville woman has been charged with her second OWI, this one in Sparta. But the other charges she faces could keep her in jail with a higher bond amount.

Police were tipped off that Jennifer Angelmeyer had just dropped off her 7 year old daughter at a Sparta home, while she was heavily intoxicated. After police caught up with her, Angelmeyer failed all sobriety tests and was arrested for OWI with a passenger under 16.

After searching her car, cops also found open intoxicants, marijuana and drug paraphernalia. Besides those charges, she also faces bail jumping for consuming alcohol.
