

Cancer Picnic Tonight

Tuesday, 11 June 2013 08:43 - Last Updated Tuesday, 11 June 2013 08:43

Celebrate Life, the 22nd annual event saluting area cancer survivors and their families will be held from 5 to 7 p.m tonight in the South Hall of the La Crosse Center. More than 1,800 people are expected to attend.

The free community-wide picnic in honor of National Cancer Survivorship Day, is open to anyone who has ever been diagnosed with cancer and their families. Doctors, nurses and other staff will join in the festivities.

A picnic dinner will be served continuously from 5 to 7 p.m. with live music entertainment throughout the evening. It's sponsored by Mayo and Gundersen.