

You'd think the La Crosse Police Department would take kindly to anyone wanting to be an extra eye or ear in crime fighting. Well....they are having a problem with local super hero, Electron. Police Sgt. Randy Rank explains why.

\(Click for Audio\)

Electron, dressed in black and yellow talked with one of our radio stations this week...and says if the police aren't serious in his crime fighting skills.....he is.

\(Click for Audio\)

Electron says he's not new to the crime fighting game. He says he became a super hero in 2011 while living in Madison, and he has patrolled with the Milwaukee group of heroes known as The Challengers.