

It hasn't been a problem-free roll out of La Crosse's new garbage service over the first month. There's been plenty of people in the city just not putting their carts back after garbage pick-up. There's been misplaced carts. Some misuse of the recycling carts. We asked city public works director, Dale Hexom when the city will start enforcing the rules for garbage in a meaningful way

\(Click for Audio\)

Hexom says one of the things that has worked well is single-stream recycling; he says that's greatly increased recycling in the city.