

Every couple of years, watchers of Wisconsin politics bring up the name of La

Crosse's Democratic Congressman. Ron Kind has been mentioned often as a possible candidate for higher office, including this year, as Democrats were seeking an opponent for Governor Walker. We recently asked Kind if the party has put much pressure on him to consider running for governor or senator:

\(Click for Audio\)

Kind says family concerns and important assignments in the House are bigger priorities for him than campaigning for a different post.